Mum and I went into town to get some messages. First, we got some mince and chicken in the butchers. We bought a fresh batch of bread rolls from the bakers. Mum cheerfully told me I could choose a bun as a treat. Next, we went to the bank. Mum wanted to see if there was a good exchange rate so she could switch her sterling for euros. As the teller counted out her money, mum was watchfully checking he was correct. She always reminds me to check the change I get in shops. Finally, mum said we were off in search of a new school satchel for me. We had a busy day!
